| <input type="checkbox"/> Do the most important assignment first (you decide what “most important” means) | <input type="checkbox"/> Do the assignments in order of your schedule |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Do the one that has the most points | <input type="checkbox"/> Do them in the order of your planner |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Do the one that’s “due” first (includes tests to study for) | <input type="checkbox"/> Do whichever one you’re most in the mood for |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Do the easiest one first | <input type="checkbox"/> Do the assignments that have already been started in class first (it’s already part done) |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Do the hardest, or most frustrating, one first | <input type="checkbox"/> Do the assignments that have already been started in class last (it’s just finishing them up) |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Do your favorite subject first | <input type="checkbox"/> Do the one for the class you have the lowest grade in (check PIV) |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Do your least favorite subject first | <input type="checkbox"/> Do the one that will take the longest first |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Do your least favorite type of work first | <input type="checkbox"/> Consider which assignment needs a particular resource (like access to a computer) and work around that |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Do the assignment for the class you’re most behind in | <input type="checkbox"/> Do the one you’re the most worried about getting done |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Do the assignments that are oldest first, before you forget what it’s about | <input type="checkbox"/> Save the hardest one for when your parent is home to help you |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Do the current homework first | <input type="checkbox"/> Save the best, or easiest, for last |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Do whatever is first in your backpack or binder | <input type="checkbox"/> Other? _____ |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Open your planner and select the assignment randomly | _____ |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Do the one for the class your “parental unit” is most on your case about (avoid conflicts) | _____ |
